Topic: Use of nonrenewable energy vs. renewable energy

Thesis statement: The use of renewable energy can open new avenues for humanity and have the ability to lower the rising global temperature.

Outline:

- Introduction: Since the discovery of crude oil it has been a major contributing factor in greenhouse gasses leading to global warming and climate change. It is a form of nonrenewable energy that is costing humanity almost planet earth that cannot be healed so quickly. Since industrialization, the global temperature has risen one degree centigrade thus warming up the planet with adverse effects to North and South Pole glaciers. The irony is world's leaders are literally doing nothing to curb the greenhouse gases except some European countries. If the world stops using fossil fuels today it would take another five decades to lower the planet's temperature back to the pre-industrialization age. It seems simply impossible as human's dependency on fossil fuels is too much. The only alternative option is the use of renewable energy in every sphere of life (Thesis statement would come here.)

- Body paragraphs (Your body should have a minimum of three paragraphs containing unique arguments and ideas. First, you need to discuss the demerits of nonrenewable energy like how it has affected human health and planet earth then suggest some alternative sources of energy like renewable energy.)
- There is no doubt that the use of fossil fuels is essential in this modern world and unfortunately there is no alternative on such massive scale. (Explain how dangerous fossil fuels are.)
- The use of biofuels can lower the carbon emission but it would contribute to the greenhouse gases. To grow crops on such a massive scale would require fertilizers on an immense scale thus paving the way for environmental degradation. (It should be your second paragraph where you can explain the potential energy alternates but make sure to explain it with every perspective.)
- The best alternative of fossil fuels is clean or renewable energy that has the potential and ability to fulfil human needs. (It should be your last paragraph where you can insist on the use of clean energy like wind, hydro, tidal, geothermal, solar, and biomass.)
- Conclusion: Humanity is leading future generations to disasters where they would not be able to control things like massive hurricanes and rising sea levels. It is the best time to act now and limit the use of fossil fuels. World's major countries should invest in renewable energy resources so that the harmful effects can be curtailed. In this write my paper paragraph reinstate your thesis statement and tell your reader why it is important concerning your topic.
